

A Note From Emmit

To the members of the Run Nash community,

On behalf of me and my team, we would like to say thank you to all the runners/walkers, charity partners, events we have managed, brands we have worked with, and the City of Nashville for the past 17 years of creating running events. It is you that made the I Run For The party, What Do You Run For, and now Run Nash the success that it is today. After 17 years I have decided to retire from event production and pass the torch to the next generation.

It is with great confidence and trust that I give that torch to Malain McCormick who will take over as owner and operator of this iconic Nashville brand, Run Nash. I look forward to watching her and her team build upon the legacy we've created and bring it renewed energy to match the new Nashville. Malain is a highly capable event producer with over 15 years of experience in the running industry and over 500,000 athletes served during her time at the Rock 'n' Roll Marathon Series.

Always remember what do you run for and keep that at the forefront of your distances whether it be long, short, walking, running, crawling, or whatever it is.

Keep running Nashville.
